V. General Conditions:

1. The client has the right to cancel Architectural Services at any time for cause or for the client's convenience and will be responsible only for payment for services performed up to the date of cancellation. Any cancellation of Architectural Services shall be done in writing.
2. If the client fails to make payment on any undisputed amount, then the Architect has the right to suspend work and shall not be held responsible for any delays as a result.
3. If any dispute arises out of or relates to this contract, or breach thereof, and if said dispute cannot be settled through direct discussions, the parties agree to first endeavor to settle the dispute in an amicable manner by mediation under local Arbitration Association of relevant country before having recourse to a judicial forum. No written or oral representation made during the course of any mediation shall be deemed a party admission.
4. Changes in scope requested by the Client that are inconsistent with client's prior approval of the Final Design Drawings, may result in additional work and shall be considered beyond the scope of this Agreement. The Architect will notify the client, prior to commencement of the additional services, of any time delays and additional fees that may be incurred.
5. It is suggested that general Contractors be involved to review design drawings in order to provide the client with preliminary estimates. The budget for the project as established by the client does not include items purchased separately by the client, such as cabinets, appliances, decorative light fixtures, specialty items, etc. The client is responsible for considering cost allowances for such additional items.
6. The architect will make every effort to work within the design budget as set forth by the client. The Architect cannot be held responsible for significant changes for labor and material costs in the construction market.
7. The Architect shall have no responsibility for the identification, discovery, presence, handling, removal or disposal of, or exposure of person to, hazardous materials in any form at the project site.
8. It is hoped that the services provided by the Architect be respected by both the client and the General Contractor. The Architect shall be notified of any proposed divergence from the intent of the work inferable from the Final Construction Documents and the actual work to be performed by the General Contractor. Prior to the execution of the work, the Architect shall approve any changes made to the Architectural design. The Architect's decision, in consultation with the client, on aesthetic issues arising between the Architect and the General Contractor shall be final if consistent with the intent expressed in the Contract Documents.
9. The Architect may visit the site at intervals appropriate to the stage of construction to become familiar with the progress and the quality of the work and to determine if the work is being performed in accordance with the Contract Documents. The Architect shall not be required to make continual on-site inspections. The Architect shall have reasonable access to the work wherever it is in its preparation or progress.
10. The Architect shall have the right to use any drawings and photographs taken before, during and after construction for marketing purposes.
11. The client shall be issued a copy of the design documents including, but not limited to, the Final Construction Documents for their records. They may use this copy for the purpose of completing, maintaining the Project and for future alterations and additions.
